	Prompters for future
	Who in the company has helped you the most this month?
	What part of your role excites you the most?
	What part of your role frustrates you the most?
	Have you built any new relationships this month?
	How do you feel about your workload?
	Have you noticed your own growth since starting?
	What's a lesson you learned from a mistake this month?
	Are there tools, systems, or training you wish you had?
	How do you feel about your progress towards your goals?
	What's one thing you'd like more feedback on?
	Month 1 – Foundations in Recruitment

	Week 1: Build rapport first—listen more than you speak.
	Action: Ask a colleague or candidate two questions about their goals and interests this week.
	Week 2: Keep a simple, organized candidate tracker from day one.
	Action: Update your tracker daily for the next week.
	Week 3: Research the client before contacting candidates.
	Action: Write 3 key facts about each client before calls.
	Week 4: Ask candidates about career goals, not just skills.
	Action: Schedule 2 calls where you focus on learning candidates' long-term goals.
	Month 2 – Candidate Engagement
	Week 5: Send short check-ins to keep candidates warm.
	Week 6: Personalize messages—avoid generic templates.
	Week 7: Set expectations clearly about timelines and feedback.
	Week 8: Celebrate small wins—every interview prep matters.
	Action for all weeks: Send at least 2 tailored messages to candidates and note their responses.
	Month 3 – Interview Prep & Presentation
	Week 9: Role-play tough interview questions with candidates.
	Week 10: Provide candidates with insights about company culture.
	Week 11: Encourage candidates to ask questions—it shows engagement.
	Week 12: Keep feedback actionable and specific after interviews.
	Action: Apply these strategies with at least 2 candidates this month.
	Month 4 – Sourcing Strategies
	Week 13: Explore LinkedIn advanced search filters to uncover hidden talent.
	Week 14: Tap into referrals from existing candidates and clients.

	Week 15: Check industry groups, forums, and networks for passive candidates.
	Week 16: Keep a “warm talent pool” for future roles.
	Action: Add at least 5 candidates to your warm pool this month.
	Month 5 – Selling the Role & Employer Brand
	Week 17: Highlight unique aspects of the role beyond salary.
	Week 18: Share stories about the company culture and team wins.
	Week 19: Be honest about challenges—credibility builds trust.
	Week 20: Tailor your pitch to each candidate’s motivations.
	Action: Practice pitching one role to two candidates and note what resonates.
	Month 6 – Client Management
	Week 21: Set clear expectations on role requirements and timelines.
	Week 22: Follow up promptly—clients remember responsiveness.
	Week 23: Educate clients on market insights and candidate availability.
	Week 24: Keep all client communication documented and organized.
	Action: Document all client interactions this month and review for patterns.
	Month 7 – Negotiation & Offers
	Week 25: Know both client and candidate motivations before negotiation.
	Week 26: Present offers professionally, highlighting benefits beyond salary.
	Week 27: Prepare candidates to negotiate respectfully and confidently.
	Week 28: Look for win-win solutions rather than compromise.
	Action: Reflect on 1 negotiation this month—what went well, what could improve?
	Month 8 – Networking & Relationship Building

	Week 29: Connect with 2–3 new industry contacts weekly.
	Week 30: Engage with your network on LinkedIn—share articles or insights.
	Week 31: Keep relationships alive even when you have no roles to fill.
	Week 32: Remember birthdays, promotions, or milestones—it's personal touch.
	Action: Send one thoughtful message to a connection each week.
	Month 9 – Time Management & Productivity
	Week 33: Prioritize tasks that directly impact placements.
	Week 34: Use calendar blocks for candidate calls and client updates.
	Week 35: Batch similar tasks (emails, LinkedIn searches) to stay efficient.
	Week 36: Review your pipeline weekly to spot gaps early.
	Action: Set up your weekly schedule using these techniques.
	Month 10 – Personal Branding & Visibility
	Week 37: Post thought leadership or industry insights regularly on LinkedIn.
	Week 38: Share success stories (client wins, candidate placements).
	Week 39: Engage professionally with posts in your sector.
	Week 40: Keep your profile up-to-date with achievements and roles.
	Action: Post or engage on LinkedIn at least once per week.
	Month 11 – Analytics & Continuous Improvement
	Week 41: Track submission-to-placement ratios for insight.
	Week 42: Monitor response rates and refine messaging strategies.
	Week 43: Review time-to-fill metrics and identify bottlenecks.
	Week 44: Reflect on areas for personal growth and efficiency.
	Action: Analyze one metric each week and make one improvement.

	Month 12 – Reflection & Growth Planning
	Week 45: Celebrate your achievements and acknowledge milestones.
	Week 46: Analyze successes and challenges over the year.
	Week 47: Identify skills to develop in the next year (negotiation, sourcing, leadership).
	Week 48: Set strategic goals for your next 12 months.
	Week 49: Ask for feedback from your manager or peers.
	Week 50: Share a lesson learned with your team.
	Week 51: Recognize a colleague's contribution and build connection.
	Week 52: Reflect on your overall growth and plan action steps.
